2 = Might be a problem.
3 = Is a problem.
4 = Yikes! This needs our attention!
5 = We need a plan to address this.

The 7 Reasons Why Strategic Plans Fail

#1. Event Thinking

Strategic planning is viewed as an event or a task, instead of a transformational ongoing process.

#2. Top-Down Ego

Strategic planning is created top-down and characterized by ego and arrogance, instead of humility and listening.

#3. Interruption

Strategic planning is seen as an "add-on" interruption to my "real work," instead of becoming absolutely core to my role.

#4. Extra Expense

Strategic planning is allocated as an extra expense (that is often cut) instead of a critical core investment.

#5. Binder Syndrome

Strategic planning conjures up complex and time-consuming exercises and 3-ring binders, instead of being the servant to a simple and elegant plan that is grounded in the alignment between the mission, BHAG, and S.M.A.R.T. goals.

#6. Sacred Cows

Strategic planning "economizes" by involving fewer and "safer" stakeholders who honor tradition, dead horses and sacred cows, versus out-of-the-box dangerous ideas!

#7. Pseudo Prayer

Strategic planning, for the Christ-follower, gives a wink and a prayer to holy input, versus an extraordinary process of assembling spiritually discerning people together to hear from God—who then joyfully follow His plan.

BONUS REASON!

#8. Verbal Fuzz

Strategic planning festers in a "verbal draft" purgatory, versus becoming a disciplined process that is both written and implemented.

▲"I learned to write to burn the fuzz off my thinking." ▲ Fred Smith, Breakfast With Fred Mastering the Management Buckets – Chapter 3: The Strategy Bucket NOTE: THIS IS A SAMPLE WORKSHEET FROM THE 15-TAB BINDER IN JOHN PEARSON'S WORKSHOP, "The Rolling 3-Year Strategic Plan: Build It. The BIG Idea:

▲ "There are no secrets to success.
It is the result of preparation, hard work, learning from failure." ▲
